Ways that Wycliffe Associates (UK) may be able to help you

In search of hidden treasures!

During 2007, WA-UK's Library Research team have been extremely busy. They received requests to find 32 articles, 17 books, 3 theses, 2 bibliographies and an electronic copy of a fourth-century manuscript.

No matter what the request, you may be sure that they will diligently seek it out on your behalf.

Technology to travel light!

WEBBS (Worldwide Electronic Bible and Book Service) has completed a major project for the US Headquarters of SIL by helping to produce an electronic version of Exegetical Helps!

Clarice Boles, WEBBS' link in Dallas said "This will mean that most folks going to the field will no longer need to carry a cart load of books. The translators will truly rise up and call you blessed."

To find out more about this project and other ways that the WEBBS team might be able to help you contact webbs@wa-uk.org

Fact File: £150 from WA-UK enabled members of the Jju translation committee in Nigeria to purchase much needed computer equipment.

Functional Literacy now has its own website!

WA-UK's Functional Literacy team seeks to produce Shell Books so that literacy workers overseas can have a ready made resource to use as a teaching aid for adult reading classes.

Shell Books provide, via computer files, booklets on self help projects. The literacy worker merely has to lift out the text and insert the local language translation.

Shell Books now have a separate web site where you can find out more about the various topics covered.

EasyEnglish – A vital resource!

The EasyEnglish web site is fast becoming a vital resource for people from all over the world. The relevance of the material is apparent from the many and varied situations in which it is used; from prisons in Australia to pastors in rural Africa!

One comment from Zambia shows its relevance for bible translators "This will practically help our pastors to be better equipped to teach and lead their congregations. It is a great support as we continue translating tools into the indigenous languages".

To find out more about EasyEnglish publications why not log on to the website?
